THE DECISION

Keep Skool or ship

Full council · 7 advisors · 3 rounds

Keep paying for the AI Automation Plus Skool membership, or cancel and focus on landing a first client.

GO THE COUNCIL'S CALL

Option B. Cancel the Skool membership before the trial bills and put the hours into the mortgage broker build, with a ship date written into the deal.

Scores

A	Keep it and work the course first		1.9
B	Cancel now and ship for the 2 clients	RECOMMENDED	8.4
C	Keep 30 days tied to a pitch quota		4.1

Each advisor scores every option from 1 to 10, weighted by how much their area matters to this decision.

Why the council landed here

- Alex Hormozi: Revenue is $0 and no pitch has gone out; a course does not touch the sales constraint.
- Jeff Bezos: A customer waiting on a promised date is free accountability; a Skool room is full of sellers.
- Warren Buffett: $33K in, $0 out, next dollars borrowed against the house: stop digging.

Simulated advisors built from each person's public work. They are not the people and do not speak for them.

Watch out

Paul Graham: "A paying customer at $150 tells them more than a free one at $500 list price."

For this to be right: The broker refuses every terms variant at $500 but would still pay something.

What to do next

- Today, Oct 22: Cancel the trial, send the broker the terms email, name a Monday check-in partner.
- Nov 12: Broker automation live and the paid ask made.
- Dec 6: Count paying clients and reach-outs, then decide.
- Cheapest test: Send the broker the one-paragraph terms email today.
- Kill it if: No kickoff or zero pitches by Nov 5, or two missed Mondays: pay one sales-only coach under $100/mo, never a course.

Where they fought

- Does paid structure help this founder start, or give them a place to hide?
  Martell stood alone for C. The other six conceded B had no structure; Martell conceded a client ship date gives it free and moved to B.
- What must the free work buy back, and when?
  Graham wanted to ship first. Martell said terms go in writing at kickoff; Graham agreed if it fits in one paragraph.
- Is the real risk the course or the month-8 upgrade?
  All seven said month 8. Hormozi set the bar higher: about 15 clients for 3 to 1 payback.
