Each advisor scores every option from 1 to 10, weighted by how much their area matters to this decision.

Why the council landed here

- Alex Hormozi: A low price adds no proof; risk reversal and a live demo fix trust.
- Warren Buffett: Six closes at $997 bring in about the same cash as four at $1,500, plus two more case studies.
- Jeff Bezos: Under never-discount, start low and publish the climb before call one.

Simulated advisors built from each person's public work. They are not the people and do not speak for them.

Watch out

Alex Hormozi: "Raise the value before you cut the price. If they don't feel stupid saying no, your demo and proof are the problem, not the price tag."

For this to be right: 4 or more of the first 10 qualified owners say yes at $1,500 as readily as at $997.

What to do next

- By Nov 7: Publish price and step-up, add job-value and call-log screen, record the demo.
- Nov 10 to 21: 10 qualified roofing and HVAC calls; film install one by Nov 21.
- Dec 1: Read the calls against the price-move rules and set the price for client 6.
- Cheapest test: 10 qualified calls at $997 + $1,500 setup, objections tagged.
- Kill it if: Under 2 closes in 10 qualified calls after trust fixes, or 2 of first 5 clients cancel or show zero booked jobs at day 60.

Where they fought

- Monthly price inside D: Six seats said $997, Bezos $1,250, Hormozi $1,500. Buffett's 6-versus-4 math moved Bezos down; Bezos's 12-month lock produced a written step-up with a cap at five. Hormozi held.
- Outcome guarantee or cancel-and-refund
  Four seats adopted Hormozi's 2-booked-jobs promise in Round 2. Buffett showed expected jobs sit at 2.6, right on the line, and Bezos and Martell priced the disputes. All four accepted plain cancel-and-refund in job language.

- Was the low lean dismissed too fast?
  Graham and Codie argued A at full strength and rejected it: the refundable setup already makes the first yes cheap, and $497 locks in the wrong buyers.
